Chase Park Evangelistic Outreach Update

As you probably already know, Taylor Hughes' girlfriend, Alexia, was baptized at Polishing the Pulpit. What an exciting time to be a Christian! While coming out of the COVID Pandemic, there appears to be a renewed interest in spiritual matters. We seem to have a re-energizing of our spiritual focus on reaching the lost.

In the past two weeks, we have had four bible studies with 6 different people, and we have a few more that are showing interest as well. These folks come from all kinds of different backgrounds and situations. What they have in common is a sense of longing to know more about God (Matthew 7:7-8). It is our responsibility to help them in that search (Luke 19:9, 10).

We also have had someone in the past few days strike up a conversation with a complete stranger at the store, turn the discussion to spiritual matters, invite them to church, and then go pick them up so they could be at services that night. What a wonderful thing it would be if we all were willing to do that? How many opportunities would there be to share the gospel with folks if we all took up the mantle of personal evangelism?

As I have said many times since coming to Chase Park five years ago, if you are not comfortable with holding a study, we can handle that part. What we need are people willing to reach out to those they know and those they meet with a simple invitation, "Come and see", as Jesus would say. Once we get them to Chase Park, the natural warmth and welcoming nature of our congregation will help them see this is a good place to be. Then we have a good chance of holding a study with them. God bless, and good fishing (for prospects)!

Remember, I love you and want to go to heaven with you.
