Out With the Old...

Well, another year has come and gone and 2019 has been a great year for Chase Park in many ways. We have welcomed many new families and seen many who have obeyed the gospel and put on Christ in baptism. We have worshipped, worked, studied, and served together and, through all of that, we have grown in number and in strength.

But 2019 has also been a year marked by sadness in some ways. We have said goodbye to beloved families who relocated to new homes and new churches. We have felt the pain of loss that comes with the death of those whom we love. We have shed tears together and supported one another through the difficulties of life that this year has brought our way.

Alongside our communal life as a church family, each of us has also lived his own unique 2019. We have each experienced our highs and lows, our successes and failures, our laughs and our tears. Now, as we stand on the precipice of a new year, we each have the opportunity to embrace our victories, to learn from our mistakes, and to begin 2020 with a fresh start and new perspective. I hope that 2019 has been a fruitful year for you and that 2020 will be even better.
